

Where the Journey Takes Us

By Darren McNally

As we travel on the track,
Our memories take us back
To a feeling, like a song,
With emotions warm and strong.

We embrace a distant age
In our story, page by page,
For a moment, we can rest,
Hoping life will keep us blessed.

All the passengers we meet
In the train or on the street
Have a different tale to tell,
Show respect, and treat them well.
